EXTREME FLIGHT TURBO RAVEN

MATT M. - RC AIRPLANE DESIGNER

IMAC One Design

This is my IMAC One Design Model. I designed this RC model and drew up a full set of plans. RC modeler magazine sold the plans for this model. The cover picture is my wife Danielle with the prototype model. I also took the photograph. The One Design airplane in the background is Dan Rihn's prototype.

The model with the black canopy was the first model of Dan Rihn's IAC one design. It was scale exact to his plans and flew before the full scale One Design flew. Dan liked my paint scheme so he used it on his full scale prototype. I stretched the model a bit for the IMAC version because the scale model was very short coupled and was pretty squirrely like a Pitts. No surprise since Dan learned to fly competition in his Pitts. First flight of the Scale IAC one design model was at mile square park in Orange county. The model with the black canopy is the scale model of the IAC one design. The model with the clear canopy and miss busy pilot in the cockpit is the IMAC version. I did produce kits for a while as seen in the pic. At the time all this took place I worked for Northrop in the Advanced Design department as a configurator. Dan Rihn was the manager of the Advanced Design Configuration group. My first ride in a general aviation aircraft was when Dan took me up in a 2 place Pitts flying out of Compton in So Cal.

My regular flying field was in Sierra Madre which was home base to RCModeler Magazine. I took the cover shot out at French Valley airport in So Cal posing in front of Dans IAC one design prototype designated the DR-107. Dan subsequently developed the DR-109 2 place. I had the opportunity to go up in his DR-109 for a flight and also to do some air-to-air photo shoots. That was some exciting flying!

WELCOME TO THE PONDEROSA

PILOT PROFILE

I've been riding for 7 years. Started training in California knowing we would bring horses to our retirement in AZ.

We have two horses, and I keep my wife company when she rides. I take regular lessons to get better, as horseback riding is a continual learning experience and training for the horse.

I didn't grow up around horses, so I have lots to still learn! I like trail riding away from development. Most of my riding is on cattle trails "out in the bush" just north of Granite Mountain, accessible out my back gate.

Occasionally we will trailer out with friends to different riding trails.
