Does this expression mean John is having too much fun?

Jerry having too much fun with his Bushmaster.

Bill says "My latest acquisition - Extreme Flight Extra 260, 67" wingspan, 6S power system. Convenient size when I don't want to haul the trailer for just a few flights at the field. Fits in the back of my Jeep. Also, allows me to practice new maneuvers without risking my larger airplanes until I get the maneuver down. Flies great!"

HIKING WITH THE REAL DOGSMOMMA at Thumb Butte

What does hiking have to do with planes? Your editor earns 'flying credits' by trying to keep up with 'The Beast' (below). Well, that and working on the honey-do list.

Don't let her size fool you.

ECLIPSE PHOTOS ON THE CHEAP

We're a low budget operation. On the left is a pin hole projection of the sun using paper plates. To the right are multiple crescent shadows on a hot tub cover.

Eclipse in progress at CVF. We could feel the air temp drop as the eclipse progressed.

Buddy, can you spare a flashlight?"

Bill G says "I got cold during the eclipse!"

The so-called "Crescent shadows on the hot tub cover".

The so-called "Ring of fire".

Crescent Shadows

As a total solar eclipse reaches ever-closer towards totality, your surroundings begin to change. Colors begin to lose their contrast and shadows on the floor become much sharper. One of the most noticeable effects are the little crescent shadows that appear on the floor. Anything that can cast a shadow while allowing small amounts of sunlight to peer through can create this effect. Trees tend to be good at showing this off quite nicely.
